

Unfold Space — Information Architecture Redesign

Purpose: Improve site structure for both human visitors and AI-assistant discoverability (ChatGPT, Claude, search engines), by organizing content around visitor intent rather than internal service categories.

Scope of this pass: Individual-facing offerings (Work With Me) and homepage. Corporate section is intentionally deferred to a later phase.

1. Top-Level Navigation

Nav Item	Purpose
Home	Entry point, orientation, routing to the right audience
Work With Me	Hub for 1:1 individual programs
Group Sessions & Events	Group offerings, workshops, retreats
About	Victoria's background, credentials, full methodology
Journal / Substack	Content hub, links to Substack
(Corporate — placeholder, separate top-level item, not built yet)	To be scoped in a later phase

Key decision: Corporate is removed from being grouped alongside individual offerings. It gets its own top-level slot so it doesn't blur the two very different buyers (an individual client vs. an HR/people-ops decision-maker).

2. Work With Me — Hub Page (not a full landing page)

Short overview page. Its job is to route, not to convert on its own.

Modules:

1. One to two lines framing what 1:1 work looks like
 2. Three program cards, each with: name, one-line description, "who this is for," link to dedicated page
 - Pregnancy
 - Postpartum
 - The Restless Professional
 3. Optional: brief note on format (session count, length) common across programs

3. Individual Program Pages (×3, each with its own URL)

Each program — Pregnancy, Postpartum, Restless Professional — gets a fully dedicated page, not a shared scroll. This matters for both SEO and AI-assistant retrieval: a specific search or query (e.g. "postpartum coaching") should land on a page speaking only to that need, not one competing with unrelated copy.

Standard module structure per program page:

1. Hook — felt emotional experience first (per existing voice principles), not service description
 2. Who this is for / who this is not for
 3. What the program includes (session count, format, structure)
 4. Program-specific tone and hook already defined in your voice guide (e.g. postpartum: grounded/capable, pelvic floor as sharp concrete hook)
 5. What's different / methodology tie-in (short — links to About/methodology for depth)
 6. Testimonial or proof (if available)
 7. Pricing or "inquire" CTA
 8. FAQ (optional, strong for SEO)

4. Home Page

Modules, top to bottom:

1. Hero — felt-experience hook, not service name ("your body knows first" territory)

2. Who this is for — three simple entry points (Pregnancy / Postpartum / Restless Professional), each linking directly to its program page
3. The Approach (teaser) — short section naming the methodology at a high level: nervous system states + dosha layer + IDG framework, 3 pillars named simply, linking to About/methodology for full depth
4. Credibility — concise credentials/background section
5. Proof / content — a recent Substack piece, testimonial, or Instagram highlight
6. Closing CTA

Methodology placement — decided: Not fully housed on the home page, and not buried only in About. Lightweight teaser on Home (drives discoverability + gives AI systems a distinct, findable "methodology" concept) → full depth lives on About or a dedicated Methodology page.

5. Wireframe Schema (text-based)

HOME

- ├ Hero (hook statement)
- ├ Who This Is For (3 entry cards → program pages)
- ├ The Approach (teaser, 3 pillars → About/Methodology)
- ├ Credibility (short bio/credentials)
- ├ Proof (Substack / testimonial)
- └ CTA

WORK WITH ME (hub)

- ├ Intro framing (1-2 lines)
- ├ Program Card: Pregnancy → /work-with-me/pregnancy
- ├ Program Card: Postpartum → /work-with-me/postpartum
- └ Program Card: Restless Professional → /work-with-me/restless-professional

/work-with-me/pregnancy

- ├ Hook
- ├ Who it's for
- ├ What's included
- ├ Methodology tie-in (short)
- ├ Testimonial
- └ CTA / pricing

/work-with-me/postpartum

- └ (same structure, postpartum-specific tone: grounded/capable, pelvic floor hoo

/work-with-me/restless-professional

└ (same structure, professional-transition tone)

GROUP SESSIONS & EVENTS

└ (unchanged from current — not in scope this pass)

ABOUT

└ Story / background

└ Credentials

└ Full methodology (nervous system states, dosha layer, IDG — full depth)

JOURNAL / SUBSTACK

└ Links out to Substack

CORPORATE — deferred, own top-level slot, not scoped yet

6. Summary for Website Setup Collaborator

Context: Redesigning unfoldspace.co's information architecture ahead of a Squarespace template rebuild. Two goals: clearer navigation for visitors, and better discoverability by search engines and AI assistants (ChatGPT, Claude) that may be surfacing the site to people looking for these services.

Current state: Three main services — private/1:1 classes, corporate classes, group sessions/events. Within 1:1, three programs: pregnancy, postpartum, and "the Restless Professional" (career-transition audience). Corporate currently sits in the main nav alongside individual offerings.

Decisions made:

- Corporate moves out of the main nav into its own separate top-level section (not grouped with individual-facing offerings). Corporate IA itself will be scoped in a later phase — not part of this deliverable.
- Each of the three 1:1 programs gets its own dedicated page (own URL) rather than sharing one landing page — improves both SEO targeting and AI-assistant retrieval for specific searches.
- "Work With Me" becomes a short hub/overview page that routes to the three program pages, rather than trying to hold all program content itself.
- Methodology (nervous system states, dosha layer, IDG framework) gets a lightweight teaser section on the home page, with full depth on the About page (or a dedicated methodology page).

Next steps: Build out the three program pages per the module structure above; corporate section IA to follow in a later round.
